SCHLAGE LiNK™ SYSTEM ADDS ANDROID APP

Affordable remote home-management system now compatible with the three most popular mobile phone platforms—iPhone, Android and BlackBerry CARMEL, IN, November 18, 2010 – Schlage, a strategic brand of Ingersoll Rand, today announced that Android phone owners can now download the app for the Schlage LiNK™ home-management system. This app makes it possible for owners of Android phones to monitor and control Z-Wave® enabled locks, lights, thermostats and other devices such as Schlage cameras from their Android phone, in addition to any computer connected to the Internet. The app is available for download in the Android Market (www.android.com/market).

“Owners of smartphone’s based on Google’s Android platform—the fastest growing mobile phone platform in the U.S—will now be able to enjoy the benefits of remote home management through the affordable Schlage LiNK System,” said Dwight Gibson, vice president and general manager, Connected Home Solutions for Ingersoll Rand, the parent company of Schlage. “Having Android in the mix means owners of the three most popular phones will be able to receive text messages when the kids get home from school, monitor live camera feeds on their phones and even reduce heating bills by adjusting their home temperature from almost anywhere.”

The basic Schlage LiNK Starter Kit ($249 with rebate*) includes a wireless keypad lock or deadbolt, a remote control lighting module and everything needed to set up a wireless Z-Wave® network in the home. A single Schlage LiNK System will support an unlimited number of IP network cameras and up to 232 Z-Wave enabled devices, all of which would be covered under one $8.99 per month subscription fee. Options include the Schlage WCW100 wireless camera ($179), Schlage WCE100 wired camera ($149), Trane Remote Energy Management Thermostat ($149, model TZEMT400AB32) and Schlage light module ($49.99).

The Schlage LiNK System is available in select RadioShack, Lowe's and Best Buy stores across the country as well as through a number of online retailers, including Amazon.com, BestBuy.com, GoKeyless.com, HomeDepot.com, TigerDirect.com and CompUSA.com.

In addition to Google's Android platform, the Schlage LiNK mobile application is available for the Apple iPhone and Research in Motion's BlackBerry as well as devices running Microsoft's Windows Mobile 5 or higher.
